Proposal Development Services

OVPR Proposal Development Services (PDS) helps IU Bloomington faculty find and secure funding for their research programs. PDS staff offer guidance and assistance to researchers in planning and conceptualizing externally funded research projects, seeking funding, and submitting well-crafted and responsive applications.

PDS can help researchers

Search
- focus funding searches
- tailor research ideas to address specific RFAs

Plan
- identify, initiate, and organize research partnerships and collaborations
- connect with appropriate campus resources (e.g., assessment, data analyses and management, education and outreach, survey services, translational activities, etc.)
- establish timelines and processes for proposal preparation
- review program guidelines, and communicate with funding agencies

Develop
- submit letters of inquiry/intent
- create budgets and justifications that reflect the goals of the proposed activities
- determine and compile supplementary materials such as biosketches, current & pending support, data for tables, institutional data, subcontractor materials, support letters, etc.
- coordinate proposal efforts among collaborators on campus or elsewhere
